Mayoral platform

Candidate vows closer look at road safety

Mayoral candidate Robert Falcon Ouellette says the Winnipeg Police Service needs to look a little closer at road safety — and if elected, he'd ask the Winnipeg Police Board (WPB) to review the city's safety priorities with the police.

"It is essential for public safety that all people involved in road safety and all of the moving parts of civic government work together," said Ouellette.

"The police board, the chief of police, the Winnipeg Police Service, the Public Works Department and the respective unions must have a common leadership vision to serve the needs of our city."

Ouellette outlined six things he'd like the WPB to oversee, including an extensive review of road safety, finding a better equilibrium between "revenue-generating mechanisms" like photo radar and police duties, finding better methods of communication between public works and the police, public consultations to better reflect neighbourhood policing priorities and providing leadership to the WPS and council on budgeting and safety.

North-end home. Police can't say if man was shot by officers

A 16-hour armed standoff in Winnipeg has left one man dead and few details as to how he was killed.

Police were called to a home on Stella Avenue in the north end Wednesday morning by reports that an armed man was threatening to harm himself.

Officers surrounded the area and talked to the man on the phone and through a bullhorn, but after several hours shots were fired. The man, the resident of the home, fired first, Det. Sgt. Natalie Aitken said.

"There were gunshots that were fired from that residence, and our officers returned fire," Aitken said.

Power to the house and a number of surrounding homes was cut off.

Early Thursday morning around 3 a.m., police entered the house and found the man dead. He was identified as Andrew Baryluk, 52.

An autopsy was underway to determine the cause of death. Aitken said it was too early to say whether the man was shot by police.

No officers were injured.

"Right now, I don't have a definitive answer for you. Obviously, we're proceeding with that investigation."

Baryluk was not previously known to police, Aitken said.

Media reports indicated that Baryluk was currently fighting with relatives. According to the Winnipeg Free Press, court records showed he had been evicted from the home after relatives sold it.

Neighbours told Metro the sound of gunshots was a "scary thing."

"It was very loud, and it's not something you think you're going to be hearing: pop, pop, pop," said one woman, who asked not to be identified Thursday.

St. James, River Heights sigh in relief as airport runway reopens

Air traffic. Completion of construction means paths return to normal

 SHANE GIBSON
shane.gibson@metronews.ca

Peace and quiet is returning to the skies over parts of south Winnipeg that saw an uptick in airplane traffic while repairs were done on one of Richardson International's runways.

The runway, which cost $8.2 million to repair, has been out of commission since April 28, forcing landing planes to reroute over St. James, River Heights, St. Vital, Fort Richmond and other areas. Residents complained about the increase in plane traffic.

But those residents can now take their fingers out of their ears because the work is

"I know it's been a little tough for people who aren't used to having that volume of traffic," said Winnipeg Airport Authority (WAA) president

Police investigate violent break-in Winnipeg police are investigating after a homeowner was attacked during a break-in at his west-end home last weekend.

The 53-year-old homeowner and his 13-year-old son woke up after hearing a window being smashed in their home in the 1000 block of Sherburn Street around 3:45 a.m. Sunday morning, police said, adding that when the pair came downstairs they found a man standing in their home.

The man took off through the front door and the homeowner followed.

Once outside, the homeowner was attacked and beaten with a pole by at least two other suspects waiting outside, police said.

The person found in the house is described as aboriginal, six-foot-two to six-foot-four inches tall, with an average build and short black hair. He was wearing a short-sleeved shirt and blue jeans.

The suspects were seen fleeing to a dark-coloured SUV that was parked on Yarwood Avenue, police said.

Assiniboine Park goes Hollywood with Movies in the Park

The big screen is returning to Assiniboine Park.

Movies in the Park kicks off this week at Assiniboine Park with another lineup of Hollywood flicks. The movies are set to light up their cinematic-style 27-foot-wide outdoor screen.

"Movies in the Park was a hit when we launched it in the summer of 2011 and has grown in popularity year after year," said Assiniboine Park's Laura Cabak in a release.

"2014 will be no exception."

"With animated, family-friendly favourites like Frozen to blockbusters like The Hunger Games: Catching Fire, there is something for everyone."

Two movies will be shown for free at the Lyric Theatre starting at 7 p.m. for the first four Fridays of August, beginning this Friday night.

METRO

Fun fact

According to the WAA, the newly repaired runway's concrete goes down four feet, a depth needed to allow planes as heavy as 200 tonnes to land and take off.

Charleswood, who were given a reprieve from the sound of planes during the work, can expect to hear roaring engines overhead once again.

Work on the runway (one of two main runways at the airport) included complete asphalt pavement resurfacing, removal and reinstallation of all 400 runway centre-line and touchdown zone lights as well as localized land drainage sewer repairs.

Rempel said the work has to be done every 10 to 15 years to make sure the surface is safe for airplanes to take off and land on.

Detained in Indonesia

Neil Bantleman.

Vigils set for jailed Canadian teacher

Candlelight vigils were scheduled to be held in several cities Thursday night for a Canadian teacher who has been detained in Indonesia for more than two weeks.

Neil Bantleman, 45, was arrested in Jakarta during a police investigation into the alleged sexual assault of three kindergarten students.

Bantleman, who worked at the prestigious Jakarta International School, was detained along with teaching assistant Ferdinand Tjiong, who is Indonesian. Both face up to 15 years if convicted.

Guy Bantleman said that, since his brother's arrest, his supporters in Indonesia have held a nightly vigil outside the school gates.

"We're frustrated, there's no question," said Guy Bantleman of his brother's detainment.

"You have to remember these are just allegations," he said. "For teachers this is the worst allegation that you can ever have put forward because it's something you have to live with for the rest of your life."

from Houston. "The only thing keeping me sane is being religious, hoping for something positive."

As the investigators — two apiece from the Netherlands and Australia — made an initial survey of the area shortly after lunchtime, mortar shells rained down on fields in a nearby village. Despite the lingering signs of risk, the team called their one-hour inspection a success.

For days, clashes along routes to the wreckage site had kept investigators from reaching the area to find and retrieve bodies that have been lying in open fields where midsummer temperatures have hovered around 32 C.

But after negotiations, the investigators were allowed through the final rebel checkpoint before the wreckage site at the village of Rozsyne. A rifle-toting militiaman then fired a warning shot to prevent reporters from accompanying the convoy on Thursday afternoon.

The militiaman, who gave his name only as Sergei, said there was still fighting in Rozsyne as the Ukrainian army continues an offensive to take back territory from the rebels.

Australian Federal Police Cmdr. Brian McDonald said the visit was only a preliminary survey before more comprehensive recovery work.

"We had a quick inspection of the site. Today was more about an assessment of the site than it was of a search," said McDonald.

Up to 80 bodies are still at the site, said Australian Foreign Minister Julie Bishop.

Prophetic sloth honoured

World Cup outcome.

Bob predicted Germany would win by grabbing the black, red and gold flag

The Toronto sloth that correctly predicted the World Cup winner has rejected honours from the city — repeatedly.

Deputy Mayor Norm Kelly was to present Bob the sloth with a congratulatory scroll on Thursday at the Toronto Zoo, but the furry mammal refused it at least three times.

And when the two-toed sloth did accept the scroll — awarded for its apparent precognition — the animal dropped it within seconds, seemingly losing interest.

Kelly said the three-year-old sloth's laziness resembled that of his teenage son, "eating, sleeping and just hanging."

Earlier this month, a German flag and an Argentine flag were presented to Bob, who made his prediction by grabbing the black, red and gold flag of Germany. Two days later, Germany won the match 1-0.

Zoo employees say Bob correctly predicted 14 World Cup matches this year prior to the final and has an accuracy rate of well over 70 per cent.

Kelly joked that he asked the sloth for predictions on the upcoming mayoral race, adding the animal replied he would "take his time" because "he's a sloth."

Unlucky in love. Lawyer sues bride, says she ditched him after getting a visa

First came love, then came marriage, then came the law-suit by a Kamloops, B.C., lawyer who says his Vietnamese bride ditched him after getting a Canadian visa.

Rod McLeod has filed a notice of claim in B.C. Supreme Court, seeking money from Nguyen Xuan Bach Phung.

The two met on a social-networking site in July 2009, court documents say.

The next month, McLeod travelled to Vietnam to meet Nguyen.

They married three months later in a ceremony in Vietnam, after which McLeod sponsored Nguyen and her two children for immigration to Canada.

Throughout the relationship, before his wife was granted a visa, McLeod said he transferred money to Vietnam for Nguyen to invest, as well as cash for living expenses.

McLeod said Nguyen promised him she was not using the marriage as a means to gain residency in Canada.

The immigration process took two years, but Nguyen and her children were granted visas in November 2011, court documents say.

They arrived in Vancouver on Dec. 29, 2011.

Court documents say Nguyen "began to limit communications" with McLeod immediately after arriving in Canada, communicating only through text messages, even though they were residing in the same house in Kamloops.

McLeod claims Nguyen would leave the room as soon as he entered and alleges she refused to let him eat with her or her children.

She left McLeod on Jan. 5, 2012, seven days after arriving in Canada.

According to court documents, however, McLeod continued to pay Nguyen's living expenses until the following summer, when her daughter returned to Vietnam and her adult son became employed.

The couple was divorced in September 2013.

Israel, Hamas agree to 72-hour ceasefire, U.S., UN announce Humanitarian truce.

Israeli and Palestinian delegations are expected to travel to Cairo, Egypt, to begin talks on ending the conflict

Israel and Hamas have agreed to a 72-hour humanitarian ceasefire beginning Friday, during which time there will be negotiations on a more durable truce, the United States and United Nations announced Thursday.

At least four short humanitarian ceasefires have been announced since the conflict began, but each has been broken by renewed fighting.

A joint statement released simultaneously in New Delhi, where U.S. Secretary of State John Kerry is travelling, and at UN headquarters in New York said the U.S. and UN had gotten assurances that all parties to the conflict had agreed to an unconditional ceasefire.

An official at Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's office confirmed that Israel had agreed to a 72-hour truce beginning at 8 a.m. local time Friday.

Hamas spokesman Sami Abu Zuhri said the Islamic militant group was also in agreement.

During the ceasefire, Kerry said Israel will be able to continue its defence operations to destroy tunnels that are behind its territorial lines. Palestinians will be able to receive food, medicine and humanitarian assistance, bury their dead, treat the wounded and travel to their homes.

Israeli and Palestinian delegations are expected to travel to Cairo for talks with the Egyptian government aimed at reaching an end to the conflict.

At least 1,441 Palestinians have been killed, three-quarters of them civilians, since hostilities began on July 8, according to Gaza health ministry officials. Israel says 56 soldiers, two Israeli civilians and a Thai agricultural worker have died.

In Geneva, the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights Navi Pillay accused both Israel and Hamas militants of violating the rules of war.

She said Hamas is violating international humanitarian law by "locating rockets within schools and hospitals, or even launching these rockets from densely populated areas." But she added that this did not absolve Israel from disregarding the same law. The Israeli government, she said, has defied international law by attacking civilian areas of Gaza such as schools, hospitals, homes and UN facilities. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Soccer team barred from travelling over fears of Ebola

The Sierra Leone soccer team has been banned from travelling to the Seychelles for an African Cup of Nations qualifier because of fears over the deadly Ebola virus.

Players and officials were barred from boarding a plane Thursday in Nairobi, Kenya, that would have taken them to the Seychelles capital of Victoria for Saturday's game.

The BBC reported that Seychelles immigration authorities decided not to allow the Sierra Leone party to travel to the Indian Ocean island because of Ebola. The virus has killed more than 700 people in the West African countries of Sierra Leone, Guinea, Liberia and Nigeria.

The BBC also said Seychelles forfeited Saturday's game and a place in next year's African Cup as a result. The Seychelles Football Federation could not immediately be reached for comment.

Outbreak. Canada issues advisory on Ebola, says no need for travel ban

Canada's public health agency has issued a travel notice about the Ebola outbreak in three African countries.

But it is not following the United States in warning citizens not to travel to Liberia, Guinea and Sierra Leone — at least not yet.

The notice from the Public Health Agency of Canada notes that dozens of cases of Ebola virus infection have been reported in those countries.

And it adds that Nigeria's ministry of health has reported its first death due to the virus.

But it adds that the World Health Organization does not recommend that any travel or trade restrictions be applied to the African countries in relation to the outbreak.

Rescuers using earth-moving equipment and their bare hands dug through heavy mud and debris Thursday after a landslide engulfed a village in western India, killing at least 41 people and leaving about 100 missing and feared dead.

More than a day after the Wednesday morning landslide, authorities said the chances of survival were slim for anyone still trapped under the mud in Malin, a village of about 700 people in Pune district of Maharashtra state.

Suresh Jadhav, a district official, said around 40 homes were wiped out.

Two days of rain caused India's latest landslide. RAFIQ MAQBOOL/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Forty-one bodies had been recovered and nine people pulled out alive as of Thursday evening, officials said.

Those rescued included a mother and her three-month-old son whose cries caught the attention of rescue workers on Wednesday.

Pramila Lende, the mother, said she was feeding the baby when she heard the roar of rocks and mud hurtling down the hillside.

"I started running with my child, but a heap of mud landed on my body," she said.

Crowds of people from nearby areas were helping rescuers, using their hands to move fallen trees and rocks.

Moncton shooter fit to face judge, jury

A New Brunswick man charged with fatally shooting three RCMP officers and wounding two others in Moncton has been found fit to stand trial and chose to be tried by judge and jury.

Justin Bourque, who faces three charges of first-degree murder and two counts of attempted murder, underwent a psychiatric assessment that concluded Bourque is competent and mentally fit for trial.

"Mr. Justin Bourque in my opinion does not meet the criteria for a defence of not criminally responsible," provincial court Judge Irwin Lampert said, reading aloud the assessment's conclusions.

Lampert ordered the documents sealed at the request of the defence, feeling it compromises his ability to have a fair trial. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Confessions from 'Mr. Big' stings ruled unreliable

Supreme Court. Onus now on prosecutors to prove that confessions should be admissible

Case study

Confessions derived from 'Mr. Big' stings are believed by some to be unreliable.

- Unplanned confession. In 2002, Nelson Hart confessed to two undercover officers that he drowned his two girls.

- Overturned. He was convicted, but the ruling was tossed in 2007.

Confessions extracted through so-called Mr. Big police sting operations tend to produce unreliable confessions, are open to abuses and must be presumed inadmissible in court, the Supreme Court of Canada ruled Thursday.

The decision by the country's highest court calls into question the convictions of Canadians behind bars across the country and has the potential to reduce wrongful convictions, say civil-rights advocates and legal experts.

Mr. Big operations involve undercover officers posing as gangsters belonging to a fictitious organization to gain confessions to crimes.

In a majority decision, the court ruled that stings like the one used to convict a Newfoundland man of drowning his three-year-old twin daughters are fraught with risks.

Nelson Hart was initially convicted of first-degree murder in 2002 in the drowning deaths of his daughters, Krista and Karen. At his trial, court was told that Hart demonstrated for undercover officers, posing as members of the mafia, how he drowned the girls by shoving them into the waters of Gander Lake, N.L.

But the conviction was overturned in 2007 by the province's appeal court by a 2-1 margin. The ruling questioned the reliability of his confession.

On Thursday, the Supreme Court justices ruled that Hart's confession during the sting operation cannot be used against him should he face another trial. The court further ruled that Hart's Charter rights may have been violated, with Canada's legal system not adequately protecting the rights of people subjected to Mr. Big stings.

In its judgment, the court said that prosecutors must prove a Mr. Big confession is admissible by showing it's reliable and that it won't unfairly prejudice a suspect during court proceedings. The Crown must also prove the confession was not obtained via police coercion or was facilitated due to a suspect's mental-health or addiction issues. THE CANADIAN PRESS

EU slaps more sanctions on Russia

Malaysia Airlines.

Following the downing of a passenger jet, EU has sanctioned some of Russia's biggest banks

The European Union on Thursday revealed the details of its broad economic sanctions against Russia, including the names of five major banks that will see their access to the 28-nation bloc's capital market curtailed.

The banks, in which the Russian state holds a majority stake, include the country's largest lender, Sberbank. The others are Gazprombank, VEB, VTB bank and Rosselkhozbank, also known as the Russian Agricultural Bank.

The latest sanctions were announced Tuesday, but the names of the targeted firms and other details were only released Thursday. The package of punitive measures also includes an arms embargo and the prohibition to export some oil exploration technology used for deep-water drilling, Arctic oil exploration and production, or shale oil projects. Finally, the sanctions also forbid the export of so-called dual-use goods, which can be used for military and civilian purposes, whenever they are destined to Russia's military.

The EU is Russia's biggest trading partner.

The sanctions with the most immediate effect are those targeting the banks because they will make it harder for Russia's already ailing economy to get access to finance and further spook international investors. The United States also imposed similar sanctions on Russian banks.

The EU beefed up its sanctions against Russia over what it decries as Moscow's meddling in Ukraine after the downing of a Malaysia Airlines passenger jet earlier this month over eastern Ukraine, which killed all 298 people aboard. The U.S. and Ukraine say the Boeing 777 was shot down by a missile fired from areas controlled by pro-Russian separatists.

Environment. IMF calls on Canada to hike gas taxes; Conservatives say no way

The International Monetary Fund says Canada and other countries can improve their economies and environment by hiking energy taxes — while cutting them on people and capital.

In a new book, Getting Energy Prices Right: From Principle to Practice, the IMF essentially endorses policies — at times advocated by the federal Liberals and NDP — leading to what some have termed a "green shift" in the taxation system. The Conservative government, however, has rejected carbon taxes.

The premise of the book is that while carbon-based energy was indispensable to economic growth during the past century, it has come with considerable costs.

The solution, the IMF says, is to tax energy to such a level that the revenue pays for energy's environment and health costs.

In a novel and rather ambitious approach, the Washington-based financial institution attempts to calculate the cost of carbon energy — coal, gas, motor diesel and natural gas — for 156 countries and proposes precise taxation levels for each country to implement.

For Canada, getting the price right could be a shock to the system of consumers and industry. For instance, the IMF says gasoline should be taxed at about $0.55 US a litre instead of the current 36 cents, and road diesel at about $0.64 per litre, instead of the current 42 cents.

In an email response, Finance Minister Joe Oliver said the Canadian government rejects the recommendations.

"We will not impose a 52 per cent increase on gasoline and diesel taxes, which would hurt consumers and businesses," he said.

Poles protest Russian ban

Poles are posting photos of themselves with apples along with mocking comments online to protest a Russian ban on Polish food.

Russia will begin banning imports of most fruit and vegetables from Poland on Friday for what it says are violations of health regulations and documentation procedures for some Polish produce.

The ban is expected to mostly affect Polish apples. Poland is Europe's largest producer of apples.

The newspaper Puls Biznesu called for a show of solidarity with apple producers, urging people to eat more apples and drink cider. People responded with humorous posts on Twitter under the hashtag #jedzjablka — Polish for "eat apples." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

YES WE CAM, NO ARETHA CAN'T

1 Clipped. Donald Sterling bought the San Diego Clippers for $12.5 million in 1981 and moved them to L.A. Now, banned by the NBA for racist remarks, he lost the case to block the sale of his team on Monday. Oh, what a tough pill to swallow! But something tells me the $2 billion sale price will make it go down like 100 million single-malt scotches.

2 Autocracy. Twitter stock has stagnated this year as some investors believe it has outgrown itself and reached a plateau. For more news on this, check Twitter.

3 R-E-S-P-E-C-T. Aretha Franklin walks into a Johnny Rockets in Niagara Falls with her nephew. This is not a joke. She orders a burger to go and sits down, when an employee tells her the table is exclusively for patrons eating in. So Franklin agrees to have it there but is rudely told that she can't because they already rang her up as a takeout customer. How great is it that this girl was dumb enough to pull resto-rank on the Queen of Soul? Unless, maybe she knew it was Aretha and thought this could make her famous or get her a reality show. Darn it, too bad nobody mentioned her name.

4 So-duh! New research from the University of Southern California shows that soft drinks can impair our ability to learn and remember information. So when the dentist asks you how your teeth fell apart, you can honestly shrug and say, "I don't remember."

5 Finish Line. Bachelorette Andi Dorfman apparently wanted a test drive before committing to a long-term purchase. It seems that while Nick may have been quicker from 0 to 60, Josh was superior when it came to handling curves. As a result, Andi chose Josh and was outed by Nick for having messed with his gear box.

6 #BieberBrawl. Twitter was abuzz with news that Orlando Bloom tried to punch Justin Bieber at a restaurant in Ibiza. Amateur footage demonstrated the type of witty banter we've come to expect from the Biebs. "What's up, b—?" followed by a "What. What." It's at this point that Bloom allegedly attempts to get at Bieber, but I don't know. Maybe he thought he was choking or just wanted to see if he could shake a vocabulary out of him.

7 Air Force None. CBC news reported that then-Alberta premier Alison Redford had staff book false seats on government planes and then remove them so she could have the plane to herself. So it's not enough that she gets to fly in a plane that is entirely first class, but she won't even share it with anyone. Nice.

8 Say What? One of the highest-trending hashtags on Twitter is #shareacokewithcam. So who is this Cam that merits such an endorsement? A singer? A movie star? Nope. Just another puissant Bieber-esque teen whose notoriety, born of videos on Vine, which focus on his toned and hairless abs, have earned him 3 million followers. I beg of you, someone, anyone, kill me now.

U.S. scientists create see-through mice to get detailed look at inner anatomy

Researchers have found a way to make mice see-through — not while they're alive, and for research only — to help scientists study fine details of anatomy.

Before they are treated with chemicals, the animals are euthanized and their skin is removed. Researchers make their inner organs transparent, but not their bones. The result looks like a rodent-shaped block of gelatin, with the organs held in place by connective tissue and a gel used in the procedure.

Scientists have been able to make tissues transparent to some degree for a century. Last year, a technique that produced see-through mouse brains made headlines. Such treatments reveal far more detail than X-rays or MRI exams could deliver. The new work is the first to make an entire transparent mouse.

Mice are mainstays of biomedical research because much of their basic biology is similar to ours and they can be altered in ways that simulate human diseases.

Guardians of the Galaxy is the most pure fun blockbuster since the first Iron Man, says Richard Crouse. CONTRIBUTED

Guardians of the Galaxy. Cross between Star Wars, Iron Man and Indiana Jones delivers action, wisecracks and a talking raccoon

Richard: Mark, summer blockbusters haven't been much fun this year. Sure, we've had giant robots, action galore and some edge-of-our-seat moments, but from the xenophobia of Dawn of the Planet of the Apes to the daddy issues and nuclear nightmares of Godzilla, the season's tent-pole movies have been a bit gloomy.

Guardians of the Galaxy is a tonic for the troops. An old-fashioned space opera, it's a wild ride and the most pure fun blockbuster since the first Iron Man movie.

Did you have as much fun at it as I did?

Mark: Richard, I generally don't care for space operas, but this one's a game-changer.

Its debt to Star Wars is enormous, with Chris Pratt as Luke Skywalker, Zoe Saldana in the Carrie Fisher role, and the raccoon and the tree as R2D2 and CP30.

But then its originality takes flight — literally — and the movie becomes its own unique creation. Unlike Star Wars, it has a great sense of humour about itself, and if you don't fall in love with the talking raccoon with the Brooklyn accent, you're as villainous as the bad guys in the movie.

RC: Totally, it's filled with one-liners, sight gags and funny moments that play off the more standard blockbuster-style action and battle scenes.

Pratt has an offhand delivery that recalls Harrison Ford in Han Solo mode, Cooper does wisecracks like a skilled Catskills comic and (almost a spoiler) there's Baby Groot to up the cute factor.

They supply the light moments, but despite Cooper's presence, this isn't The Hangover in space; it's an all-out action movie with a blithe spirit.

The only bits that dragged for me were the set-up scenes. Did you find the exposition got in the way occasionally?

MB: I don't think you watch this movie for the plot anyways.

But the very first scene, a waaaay too serious deathbed scene between a boy and his mother, left me with a bad taste and it took me awhile to recover from it and enjoy the movie.

It isn't all that far from the old Flash Gordon serials, except that every piece of technology is beyond state-of-the-art and the makeup is wonderfully imaginative.

My biggest beef?

The bad guys have bad dialogue. And they deliver their lines in the standard three-octaves-lower register of vil-

Chadwick Boseman had to channel James Brown through multiple personas and pompadours. CONTRIBUTED

He didn't Feel Good about role in biopic

Get on Up. Actor Chadwick Boseman was reluctant to play the iconic James Brown

A year after playing Jackie Robinson in 42, Chadwick Boseman was back in biopic spring training.

To become James Brown for the film Get on Up, Boseman needed to rely on an entirely different skill set. But the preparation necessary to transform into a tireless performer like Brown — “the hardest working man in show business,” after all — was oddly reminiscent of working out on the baseball diamond. “I was like, ‘This is déjà vu,’” says Boseman. “I’m waking up in the morning and lacing them up. Doesn’t matter whether it’s cleats or if it’s leather shoes.”

For the second time, Boseman has stepped into some very big ones. A largely unknown actor previously, the 32-year-old Boseman has emerged with back-to-back biopics of 20th century titans: one the revolutionary breaker of baseball’s colour line, the other the Godfather of Soul. Both were unstoppable forces that blazed across civil rights-era America. One could steal home; the other could do the Mashed Potato.

Tackling one such historical figure is daring; two is audacious. It wasn’t Boseman’s idea.

“There’s no way in the world,” Boseman says was his initial reaction to playing Brown, still sounding genuinely resistant to the idea. Not only was playing such a complicated, iconic personality like Brown a fearsome challenge, it also could potentially typecast Boseman in a biopic bubble.

“I felt like if I keep doing this biopic thing, then all I’m going to get is biopics,” says Boseman. “I was already getting all biopic scripts.”

But director Tate Taylor (The Help) pressed. He brought Boseman in to read a scene in the movie of Brown at 63 and was immediately won over by the fresh-faced Boseman’s ability to transform into the legend late in life. “I thought: This is the guy. Please let him be able to learn how to dance,” said Taylor. But it took weeks of coaxing: “Chad’s point of view was, ‘Nobody should do this. It’s just not even possible.’”

Brown’s vocals are used during performances in the movie, but the part required Boseman to play Brown across time and pompadours. He had to find the voice, the moves, the posture and the persona, and hope somewhere in there was the man, too. “It was all daunting, to be honest with you,” sighs Boseman. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

James Brown's many faces

Get on Up, produced by Brian Grazer, went through many iterations. At one point, Spike Lee was to direct. Later, Mick Jagger, who frequently crossed paths with Brown and took much inspiration from him, came on board as a producer. (Jagger is also producing an upcoming documentary about Brown, directed by Alex Gibney.) The film, which opens this weekend, skips across Brown’s expansive life, from the Georgia poverty of his hard upbringing to his more cartoonish and violent later years (James died in 2006). Get on Up attempts to synthesize all of Brown’s many dimensions: tyrannical band leader, musical visionary, funk preacher, domestic abuser.

Who's who in Guardians of the Galaxy

Gamora

An alien orphan who was abducted by big baddie Thanos and trained to be a living weapon along with her sister Nebula. She doesn't feel great about what she's been doing since then and is looking for a change.

Peter Quill Star Lord

An Earthling raised by his single mother until her death in 1988, at which point the 11-year-old was picked up by a group of alien thieves and bounty hunters called the Ravagers. He has a sharp wit, delusions of grandeur and an awesome mix tape of '70s hits that is his only relic from Earth.

Rocket Raccoon

A bounty hunter and mercenary with a bit of an anger problem — due mostly to the fact that he's the product of genetic experiments by some unknown scientific madman. Fun fact: Rocket reveals in the film that he actually has no idea what a raccoon is.

Drax the Destroyer

A proud, noble warrior out for revenge after his family was slaughtered ruthlessly by Ronan, a Kree alien madman in league with Thanos. But first he needs to get himself out of prison and figure out how sarcasm works.

Groot

A sentient, tree-like creature that can grow and stretch to incredible heights — but with a very, very limited vocabulary.

Primer

How does this story fit into the Marvel universe?

Average moviegoers — and even some affirmed comic book fans — might be a little hazy on just who these Guardians of the Galaxy are and how they tie in to the existing Marvel movie universe. (You know, with Iron Man and Thor and all those guys?) So here's a handy primer on the newest piece of the billion-dollar cinematic puzzle. Just because it's space doesn't mean it's the future. As the movie makes clear when we first see the grown-up Peter Quill, this is happening now, on the same timeline as The Avengers, Captain America: The Winter Soldier and the Thor films.

If you've been staying through the credits for Marvel's other films, you've already seen some pieces of this one: Thanos, the big bad guy ordering Ronan around — and voiced by Josh Brolin — first appeared in a post-credit sequence at the end of The Avengers. Turns out he was the one helping Loki attack Earth in that film, and he'll be causing trouble for just about everyone in the Marvel universe for the foreseeable future.

The Avengers

And at the end of Thor: The Dark World, two Asgardians delivered the pesky Aether to the Collector (Benicio del Toro), explaining that it and the Tesseract are "infinity stones" — which will be important later, so keep them in mind. Look for the Collector to pop up again in this film.

Feverish fans propel Grande to the top

My Everything.

Pop's ponytailed star is shining bright on cusp on new album release

Ariana Grande is the new princess of pop, topping the charts with her addictive single Problem, impressing critics with her thick, gliding vocal range and maintaining an image that her young Nickelodeon fans can vibe with, signature ponytail and all.

The 21-year-old is having the best time of her life. But it's also the worst.

Her grandfather, with whom she had a very close relationship, died last week.

"I personally felt like I've been not as appreciative as I could be of the music success I wanted all my life because I've

Extraordinary talent

"(Ariana) has this wildly successful fan base on the Internet unlike anything we've seen in some time."

Monte Lipman, the CEO and chairman of Republic Records.

been distracted by my grandfather and his health and this being such a dark time," she said in an interview.

Grande said she hasn't had much time to "sit back and realize and just enjoy" her musical breakthrough, and what's coming next may not allow any time for it.

Her sophomore album, My Everything, arrives Aug. 25 at midnight, moments after the MTV Video Music Awards, where Grande is nominated for three moonmen. She released Bang Bang this week with Nicki Minaj and Jessie J, which quickly topped the iTunes charts. The Iggy Azalea-assisted Problem, which has sold 2.6 million tracks so far, is spending its 13th consecutive week in the Top 10 and another single, Break Free, is a rising radio hit.

"What's so attractive about Ariana is, No. 1 she's an extraordinary talent, No. 2 she's an exceptional actress, and the third part of it — which makes her a triple threat — is she has this wildly successful fan base on the Internet unlike anything we've seen in some time," said Monte Lipman, the CEO and chairman of Republic Records who signed Grande when she was 17.

MTV reprised its Total Request Live for a day for Grande. Amy Doyle, the network's executive vice-president of music and talent programming strategy, said MTV sat down with Grande's team to plan ways to help launch her new album.

"If TRL was around today, Ariana would be a fixture in the same way Britney (Spears) was when Britney was of the moment," said Doyle, who said the network had been thinking of ways to bring back TRL, but hadn't come up with the right idea until they thought of Grande. "She was absolutely the perfect artist to do that because her fans are active and she's very social."

Cheek to Cheek. Lady Gaga cans the crazy for classic crooning with Tony Bennett Lady Gaga is a bona fide pop star, but the singer says recording jazz music was easier than pop.

Gaga has spent two years recording an album of jazz standards with Tony Bennett called Cheek to Cheek, to be released Sept. 23.

"You know, it's funny, but jazz comes a little more comfortable for me than pop music, than R&B music," Gaga said in an interview Monday. "I've sung jazz since I was 13 years old, which is kind of like my little secret that Tony found out. So this is almost easier for me than anything else."

Gaga made the comments with Bennett by her side ahead of the duo's taped performance at Jazz at Lincoln Center in New York City for PBS, which will air in the fall. The album's first single, a cover of Cole Porter's Anything Goes, was released Tuesday. Other selections from the Great American Songbook that appear on Cheek to Cheek include It Don't Mean a Thing (If It Ain't Got That Swing), Sophisticated Lady, Lush Life and the title track.

The 28-year-old and 87-year-old Bennett first collaborated on his Grammy-winning, platinum-selling 2011 album, Duets II. Bennett said fans will be impressed with Gaga's vocal performance on the upcoming album.

"They're going to say we had no idea she sings that well," he said.

"And they're gonna say they had no idea that Tony dressed so crazy," Gaga added, as Bennett smiled. "When you come out in your meat dress, Tony, nobody is going to know what's going on."

Cheek to Cheek is Gaga's first release since last year's Artpop. Bennett released a collaborative album with Latin singers in 2012 called Viva Duets.

"There's 60 years between us, and when we sing, there's no distance," Gaga said about working with Bennett.

Arterial/

This achingly pretty electronic piece by Seattle-based Lusine is lovely to listen to, but for full effect, you have to see the video which was inspired by spilling juice on a computer keyboard. It's gorgeous video art.

Passerby/Max LL

Montreal composer Max LL spent months travelling the world collecting exotic sounds from India, Mongolia, Bangladesh, Burma, Nepal and other far-flung lands. The resulting album is entitled Collecting Sounds from Around the World. Passerby is the opening track.

Hogtown/The Rough Boys

Toronto's punk/thrasher/stoner band Rough Boys finally managed to get an EP together entitled Blood, Booze and Gasoline. The lyrics are hard to make out, but you get the idea that they're not impressed with their hometown.

Video game review

Name. The Last of Us Remastered

For. PS4

Rated. Mature 17+

It's emotional storytelling that makes The Last of Us an outstanding experience. Remastering doesn't change that — it visually enhances shadows and far-off landscapes, conveniently packaged in a documentary and the prequel, but adds nothing important to Joel and Ellie's post-apocalyptic journey. It's a bonus if you have a PS4, but PS3 bargain buyers aren't missing out. Sure, there's more control options and an Instagram-like feature to take and share photos, but really this is just a reminder not to miss out on one of the best games of all time. KRIS ABEL

Bieber posts bikini pic after dust-up with Bloom, then tries to make him cry

In the wake of his scuffle with Orlando Bloom in Ibiza earlier this week, Justin Bieber continues to prove exactly how mature he is by continuing to use the most powerful weapon in his vast arsenal — Instagram, obviously — to get the last word. After first posting and then deleting a bikini shot of Bloom's ex-wife, Miranda Kerr, Bieber uploaded a red-carpet photo of Bloom in which he appears to be crying. True to form, he quickly deleted it — but soon gained some courage and posted it again. Take that, Orlando! They say famous people stop developing at the age at which they gain notoriety, which is really unfortunate in Bieber's case. All signs to point to a perpetual 14-year-old.

Charlize pals worried about plan to marry Penn

Charlize Theron may be head over heels for Sean Penn, but pals of the Monster actress are apparently worried things are moving too fast, according to the National Enquirer.

Theron has been spotted around sporting what looks like an engagement ring, hence the calls for concern.

Ledger was a great kisser, Kate Hudson reveals

Kate Hudson has locked lips with a lot of attractive male co-stars throughout her film career, but one really stands out in her memory.

When asked by Bravo's Andy Cohen about the actors with whom she's kissed on-screen, the Almost Famous star responded, "I would say my favourite one was Heath Ledger. That was pretty excellent. I would say that, I look back at all of it, and that was really — he was lovely."

Hudson co-starred with the late Dark Knight star in 2002's the Four Feathers.

Elevate a casual get-together or pool party into something special by preparing some spectacular snacks. This is a recipe I go to time and time again because it comes together relatively easily but goes a long way in making your guests feel special and welcome.

Ingredients

Cucumber Jelly

- 1 tsp (5 ml) powdered gelatin
- 1 tbsp (15 ml) water
- 1 1/2 English cucumbers
- Gazpacho
- 1 1/2 cups (375 ml) tomato juice
- 1 cup (250 ml) cubed stale bread
- 1 red bell pepper, seeded and chopped
- 1 tomato, diced
- 1 onion, diced
- 1/2 English cucumber
- 2 tbsp (30 ml) red wine vinegar
- 2 tbsp (30 ml) olive oil
- 1 clove garlic, peeled
- 1/2 tsp (1 ml) celery salt
- Tabasco sauce, to taste
- 1/3 cup (75 ml) 35% cream
- Salt and pepper

This recipe makes six appetizers. COURTESY RICARDOUCUISINE.COM

Cucumber Jelly

1. In bowl, sprinkle gelatin over water; let bloom 5 mins.
2. Cut 1/4 cup (60 ml) of the cucumber into small dice and the remaining cucumber into cubes. Set aside.
3. In a blender, purée the cubed cucumber until smooth. Strain. You'll need 1 cup (250 ml) of cucumber juice.
4. In microwave or small saucepan, heat gelatin with 1/4 cup (60 ml) of cucumber juice until completely dissolved. Add the remaining juice and the diced cucumber. Stir to combine. Season with salt and pepper.

5. Spoon the jelly into the bottom of six 1-cup (250 ml) serving glasses. Cover and refrigerate for 6 hours or overnight.

Gazpacho

1. In blender, purée all ingredients, except cream, salt and pepper, until smooth. Adjust seasoning. Refrigerate 1 hour.

Assembly

1. In a bowl, whip cream until stiff peaks form. To serve, pour gazpacho on cucumber jelly and top with whipped cream. Season with pepper and garnish with fresh herbs of your choice. Serve.

Guys, apparently we're letting the ladies make all the wine-buying decisions. I hadn't given this scenario much thought until I got an update on some new wines from Australia.

Named 19 Crimes, they're a growing collection of Down Under juice wrapped in black, matte-finish bottles with labels that feature the mug shots of some unsavoury looking characters who would be right at home on some 18th century post-office wall. The design is aimed squarely at the male consumer.

Though only time will tell if it works, the story behind the marketing has plenty of cross-gender appeal. If you remember high school history, Australia was supposedly colonized by malcontents who — if convicted of one of 19 different infractions — were given a one-way ticket to the outback.

Dude on the front panel of the 19 Crimes 2012 Shiraz Durif ($16.95 - $19.98) doesn't look happy about his sentence. Crammed with dark fruit flavours and balanced by noticeable oak, it's guilty of pairing well with barbecued meats. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. Blue Bombers players jump up and down after a thrilling comeback win over the Tiger-Cats in Hamilton, Ont., on Thursday. NATHAN DENETTE/THE CANADIAN PRESS

What a difference a second makes

Down to the wire.

Last-second TD on a two-yard Willy pass pushes Bombers over Ticats in Hamilton

Drew Willy's two-yard TD pass to Nic Grigsby on the final play of the game rallied the Winnipeg Blue Bombers to a stirring 27-26 comeback win over the Hamilton Tiger-Cats on Thursday night.

Willy lofted a high, soft pass to Grigsby to cap an 11-play drive that began at the Winnipeg 15-yard line with 1:40 remaining. Lirim Hajrullahi's convert earned Winnipeg (5-1) the victory.

Rookie Quincy McDuffie's 66-yard punt return TD at 2:15 earned Hamilton a 24-20 lead, the Ticats' first of the game. McDuffie, making his CFL debut, delighted a Ron Joyce Stadium gathering of 6,500 that was forced to endure a horrendous first half by the Ticats (1-4).

Hamilton managed just two first downs and 22 net yards. And when Grigsby put Winnipeg ahead 20-3 with a 16-yard scamper at 2:38 of the third, it looked like the game was over.

But quarterback Dan LeFevour hit C.J. Gable with a 48-yard scoring strike at 6:35. LeFevour, the CFL's offensive player of the week, scored on a two-yard run 12 seconds into the fourth to cut Hamilton's deficit to 20-17 before McDuffie's electrifying return at 2:15.

Hamilton went ahead 26-20 after Hajrullahi was forced to boot the ball out of the end zone for a safety following a high snap at 3:53.

Julian Feoli-Gudino eventually made up for a previous fumble with a clutch 22-yard catch that put Winnipeg at the Hamilton two-yard line, setting up Willy's final-play heroics. The Bombers improved to 4-0 versus East Division competition this year. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Tagziev dominant for the gold

All that Tamerlan Tagziev wanted to do was make his adopted homeland proud.

He succeeded in impressive fashion at the Commonwealth Games on Thursday.

The Russian-born freestyle wrestler arrived in Canada five years ago, and Thursday won his first international gold medal for his new country with a dominant victory in the men's 86-kilogram division final.

Still trying to catch his breath after the match, Tagziev pointed to the Maple Leaf on his chest as the reason for his 14-4 manhandling of Nigeria's Andrew Dick. "It's a big deal to represent our country. I'm proud of being Canadian," said the 32-year-old, who lives in Toronto. "I'm so proud. The national anthem (played) for me."

Tagziev's gold came on the heels of Danielle Lappage's earlier victory in the women's 63-kilogram division and capped a great event on the mat for Canada. The day also saw Brittanie Laverdure and Jevon Balfour win silver medals.

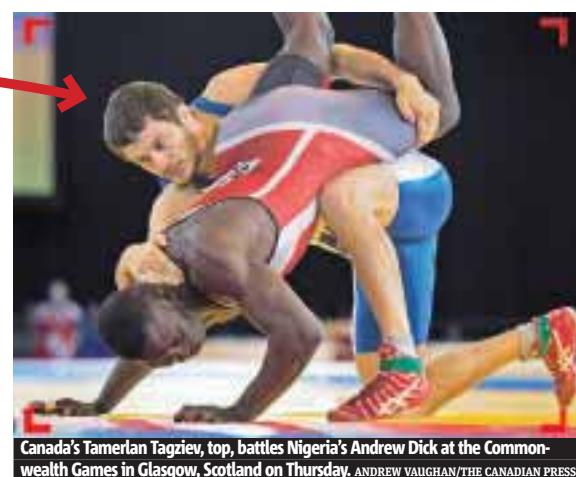

Canadian wrestlers finished with 12 medals. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Tiger lurking four shots off of lead

Tiger Woods took another step on one of his favourite courses toward showing his game might be turning around.

Woods made six birdies Thursday to account for his mistakes and opened with a 2-under 68 at the Bridgestone Invitational. He was still four shots behind Marc Leishman of Australia, who shot 64 on a perfect day for scoring at Firestone.

It was only a first step for Woods. He opened with a 69 at the British Open two weeks ago and then made the cut on the number.

British Open champion Rory McIlroy made a late double bogey in his round of 69.

"I wanted to let all of my great fans know that unfortunately I am going to have to withdraw from the upcoming WTA events in Montreal and Cincinnati, as well as the U.S. Open," she said in a statement released by Tennis Canada.

Trades all around, but Jays stand pat

Non-waiver deadline.

A's get Lester, Tigers take Price, Toronto gets exactly zilch

In the hours leading up to baseball's trade deadline, Toronto Blue Jays general manager Alex Anthopoulos heard small bits of news about moves around the American League but didn't have time to digest them.

"You're not really spending time to sit back and analyze what your competition's doing and things like that," Anthopoulos said. "You're so focused on what we're trying to get done."

While the landscape around them changed with trades both major and minor, the Blue Jays did nothing before Thursday's non-waiver deadline.

Entering Thursday's action, the Blue Jays held one of the AL's two wild-card spots. They were 2 1/2 games back of Baltimore and three games ahead of New York.

On deadline day, the Orioles added left-handed reliever Andrew Miller from the Boston Red Sox, who had their own fire sale by also sending Jon Lester to the Oakland Athletics. John Lackey to the St. Louis Cardinals and Stephen Drew to the Yankees. New York also got infielder Martin Prado from the Arizona Diamondbacks.

Ace left-hander David Price left the division as the Tampa Bay Rays sent him to the Detroit Tigers in a three-way deal that also included the Seattle Mariners. As part of the return, the Rays got centre-fielder Austin Jackson from Detroit.

Jose Bautista told reporters in Houston before Thursday night's game against the Astros that he had "mixed feelings" about the Blue Jays' inaction at the trade deadline.

"Of course it's a little disappointing that we somehow weren't able to get anything done, but everyone around us that's in contention — and even some teams that aren't in contention like the Red Sox — somehow figured it out," he said. "Maybe they believe enough in our talent that they didn't feel like they wanted to break up our group and sacrifice our talent and what we've got going." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Horoscopes by Sally Brompton

♈ Aries

March 21 - April 20

You're feeling more positive about life and that makes you more willing to get out into the world and rub shoulders with people who can be of benefit.

♉ Taurus

April 21 - May 21

If someone you don't get along with makes an effort to be nice to you today, make an effort to be nice in return. Just because you have different values does not mean you can't get along.

♊ Gemini

May 22 - June 21

With the Sun, Jupiter and now Mercury, your ruler, moving through one of the positive areas of your chart you'll find it easy to hit targets that before you thought were too high.

♋ Cancer

June 22 - July 23

There are some days when, no matter how hard the task you have to take care of, everything comes easy to you, and this is one of them.

♌ Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

If you limit yourself to tried and tested ways over the next two or three days you will not only make unnecessary work for yourself but you could miss out on something good. Be open.

♍ Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

Nothing bad will happen today as long as you think logically. That will help you make sense of what, to emotional types, makes no sense at all.

♎ Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

If you force others to follow your lead today, they will refuse. If, however, you use your charm to win them over you will find it easy to maneuver them in the direction you want them to go.

♏ Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

What is your number one ambition in life? Are you close to making it come true? If not, don't worry because the planets promise there is plenty of time.

♐ Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

The upsets of the past few months are beginning to fade and all you should care about today and over the weekend is having as much fun as possible.

♑ Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

You have an obsession with perfection but you need to remember that not everyone shares it. If you take it too far today, you might tempt certain people to be obstructive.

♒ Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

This is an excellent time for travel and social activities, and maybe affairs of the heart as well. You will be chatty and charming today and will make a good impression on someone.

♓ Pisces

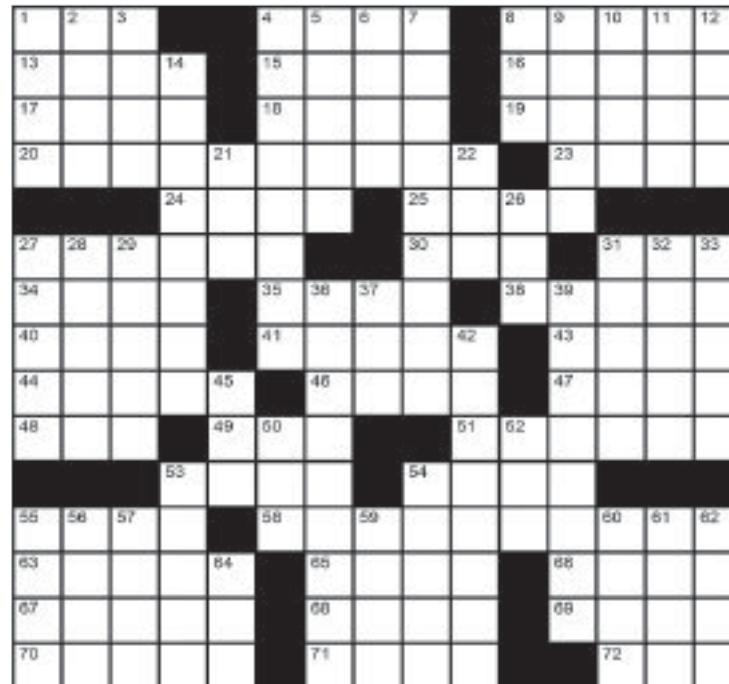

Feb. 20 - March 20

If you're planning a surprise for a loved one be careful who you confide in because this is one of those days when information could easily slip out.
